OUTLINES.

Sone of the survivors of the ill-fated steamer Columbia have arrived at San Francisco and telling a harrowing story of the disaster at Shelter Cove Sunday before day; a lady passenger and the chief engineer of the ship are graphic in their description of what occurred when the two vessels came together. ——New York is disturbed over an alleged Armenian plot to murder and blackmail the killing of a wealthy rug dealer there Monday being cited as an instance of the plot to do wholesale violence to those who refuse to turn over money at their demand. ——Attorney Richardson concluded his speech for the defence in the Haywood case at Boise, Idaho, yesterday, terribly arraigning the Pinkertons, accusing them of entering into a conspiracy with the mine owners to destroy the Western Federation of Miners; Dr. McGhee, a witness arrested for perjury in connection with the case, was discharged yesterday. ——A movement is making at Asheville for the settlement of the differences between the State and Federal Courts with reference to the Passenger Rate Law in this State; an assistant attorney general of the United States is in Asheville in the role of mediator. ——The hearing in the Rowland habeas corpus at Raleigh was continued yesterday, the State giving a suggestion that it will endeavor to show that Rowland tried to wreck a Seaboard train which Engineer Strange was runing. ——Prosecutions have been instituted in Mississippi against the Standard Oil Company, charging the corporation with violation of the anti-trust law recently enacted.——Crazed by financial reverses, a New York merchant yesterday shot down a young woman formerly employed by him, ran to the store of friend under cover of a rapid fire, demanded money and shot him, being finally overpowered by a truckman, who accomplished his arrest. ——Jas. B. Duke, head of the tobacco trust, was married to Mrs. Inman in New York yesterday. ——The trial of Zeke Lewis, one of the alleged Anson lynchers, continued at Monroe yesterday, the defence relying strongly on an alibi. ——New York markets: Money on call, steady, 2 1-2@2 3-4 per cent.; ruling rate, 2 1-2; closing bid, 3; offered at 3; spot cotton, 15 points higher; closing, steady at 13.10; flour, more active and steady; wheat, spot, firm; No. 2 red, 97 elevator; corn, firm; No. 2, 60 1-2 elevator; oats, spot, steady; mixed, 49 1-2; turpentine and rosin, easy.

Foraker and Hopkins would make a ticket that every standpatter would support with enthusiasm and cash.

While we have no statistics in reach, we imagine that a real hefty rate case lawyer earns more money than we do.

"As easy as falling off a log," is an old and familiar saw. But it's just as easy to prove an alibi and lots easier to prove self defense.

The Southern ought to run a special train regularly between Raleigh and Asheville for the accommodation of Judge Pritchard. It might be called the "Injunction Cannon Ball."

If the Cleveland burglar whom a woman kissed, thinking he was her husband, carried off anything but the "kiss in the dark," he acted in a very ungentlemanly manner.

The city dweller who complains so much of high temperature rarely thinks what a blessing it is to the farmer whose belated crops are now rapidly recovering from the effects of the cold, wet Spring.

"New York is to have 'advanced vaudeville.' That means merely an advance in the price of seats," says the Atlanta Journal. Well, the boys will not kick on that provided there is no advance in the length of the skirts.

According to the weather man it was three points cooler in Charlotte than it was in Charleston Sunday. The Observer ought not to neglect this opportunity to fling a hot shot at the Elder.

We understand now how Judge Long "figgered out" that fine of $30,000 against the Southern Railway. According to Judge Pritchard's decision, the fine for each violation of the rate law is $500, and the penalty is eight times the amount of the fine, or $4,000 for each ticket sold. Judge Pritchard calculated that the enforcement of these penalties in every case would make the railroads liable for $2,500,000 a day. Surely, the Atlantic Coast Line and the Southern must have "a leg to stand on," as the lawyers say, or they would never have gone into the fight against the State law.

Don't neglect your eyes, come to us and talk it over, it will cost your nothing for examination or consultation. Spectables or eyeglasses correctly fitted to your eyes for $1.00 and up. Dr. Vineberg, the eye specialist, at Munds' drug store, Masonic Temple. jy 23 2t

IN CAMP BRUNSWICK

Thirteenth Annual Encampment of Boys' Brigade Now in Progress at Southport.

GENERAL ORDERS FOR WEEK

Gossip Among the Boys of the Military—Enjoying Outdoor Life and Will Return to City in Good Shape—Fine Sport Fishing.

Camp Brunswick,
Southport, N. C.,
Monday, July 22nd, 1907.

The thirteenth annual encampment of the Boy's Brigade formally opened at Camp Brunswick, Southport, N. C., at 6 A. M., July 20th, 1907.

Colonel Taylor has issued general orders for the week as follows:

"The following hours will be in force during encampment:

Reville	6:00 A. M.
Morning Drill	6:30 A. M.
Mess	7:00 A. M.
Religious Exercises	7:45 A. M.
Guard Mount	8:30 A. M.
Target Practice	9:00 A. M.
Mess	12:30 A. M.
Mess	6:00 P. M.
Dress Parade	6:30 P. M.
Taps	9:30 P. M.

Hours for bathing will be announced daily.

"The fishing crew will report to Headquarters for hours.

"One Officer of the Day, one Seargeant, one Corporal, and four privates will be detailed for guard duty.

"By order of

"COL. TAYLOR,
"Commander.

"H. S. ALLEN,
"Adjutant."

We arrived in camp at 6:00 A. M. Saturday morning, "safe and sane," rather tired, but with appetites that any grizzly would be proud of. After breakfast "Jobey" was heard to remark that "he believed the boys liked his style of cooking, after all."

We all feel ourselves under a deep debt of gratitude to our employers for making it possible for us to attend the encampment. After this outing we think that we will go back to our work with redoubled energy and more active brains, thus repaying their kindness by the character of our service.

Our first night in camp was not "one grand sweet dream." Most of the boys spent the greater part of the night fighting an "un-sham" battle with mosquitoes and sand-flies.

Our lady-killers, Messrs. "Dukey" Allen, "Nuts" Beach, and "Yaller" Williams, have lost no time, but are promenading on the garrison most promiscuously. "Jakey" Croom has about exhausted Southport's supply of post-cards, writing to the "fair ones" at home. "Doc" Watson says he'll have a fresh supply by the next freight. If appearances are any signs "Thedo" Curtis and "Weary" Walker haven't been sleeping any in town for the last "steen" weeks; they sleep from "mess call." The girls in town had better look out or they'll lose that pretty Davis boy. "Lover's Lane" seems to be his favorite retreat after mess. "Bird-Eye" Willitts was so over-loaded with terra firma that when he took his bi-monthly bath this morning, the "old Cape Fear" came near removing him from the sordid cares of this earth.

Our camp is very much brightened this year on account of the fact that some of the "boys" have brought down their wives to spend a week in this bustling city. We are very much indebted to Capt. J. J. Loughlin, owner of the launch Pauline, for a pleasant trip to Fort Caswell this afternoon.

Our genial friend, "Doc." Nutt, made his appearance in camp today. Look out for trouble!

Our fishing crew had excellent luck today; 150 fish were caught, about 75 being trout. Colonel Taylor caught one "kitty."—B. F. K., Jr.

The Ladies Appreciative.

The shaving parlors of Messrs. W. R. Morrison & Co., on Market street, were thronged with ladies last evening in response to the offer of the proprietors to give a free massage or shampoo to all lady callers between 8 and 10 P. M. each evening this week until Saturday night. Lady attendants are present and the best of service is given. The place promises to become quite popular for the ladies. It is handsomely fitted up and only white employees may be found in attendance.

BEARING OLIVE BRANCH

State and Federal Courts May Get Together on Passenger Rate Law, According to Asheville Reports—Department.

(By Associated Press).

Asheville, N. C., July 23.—At a conference tonight attended by President Finley, Vice President Akert, General Counsel Thom, and Humphrey, of the Southern Railway; Judge Merrimon and counsel for the State, United States Assistant Attorney General E. T. Sanford submitte a proposition looking to the settlement of the railway rate dispute between the State court and the United States Court. The proposition was forwarded to Governor Glenn by wire, but it was stated by unofficial advices from Raleigh that the Governor will not accept Mr. Sanford's proposition. The nature of the proposition could not be learned.

It was stated tonight that the Southern Railway plans to bring a supplemental bill in their injunction order, praying for the enlargement and broadening of the scope of theenjoinment by which they expect to make it operate directly upon all officers of the State, if not directly upon the State courts.

Asheville, N. C., July 23.—While Southern Railway officials are still here, they have not as yet asked Judge Pritchard to take any steps to stay the judgment of Judge Long at Raleigh, who imposed a fine of $30,000 on the Southern. Other measures are today being devised to settle the conflict between the Federal and State courts. Assistant Attorney General Sanford, of the Department of Justice, is here for the purpose of mediation, and it is known that the State authorities here are communicating with Governor Glenn in connection with peace proposals.

Judge Pritcharddeclined to make a statement for publication, but it is understood that he has proposed to the representatives of the State that if interference with the orderly procedure of his court shall cease, he will not interfere with the sheriff of Wake county in his attempt to carry into effect the judgment of $30,000 against the railroad company, but will use his good offices to have an appeal carried first to the State Supreme Court and then to the Supreme Court of the United States. Such an appeal has been taken by the State in the habeas corpus cases here.

Bonaparte is Mum.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 23.—Attorney General Charles J. Bonaparte, who has been spending a few weeks at Cazenvia, today said that he was on a vacation and did not care to discuss Judge Pritchard's decision in the North Carolina rate case.

INTERESTING CEREMONY.

Driving of First Spike in Brunswick Railroad at Navassa.

Interesting ceremonies will tomorrow mark the driving of the first spike on the new Wilmington, Brunswick and Southern Railroad at Navassa station four miles from Wilmington. The event is regarded as one of deep significance for Brunswick county, which is now practically without railroad facilities and the indications are that the ceremonies upon the occasion tomorrow will be well attended.

The steamer Atlantic has been chartered for a special trip from Southport and many from the county seat will come up to attend the exercises, stopping at Wilmington to take on a party here.

It is expected that the steamer will reach here about 10:30 o'clock and she will tie up for a short time at Chestnut street dock, proceeding then to Navassa. On the return the steamer will reach the city between 1 and 2 o'clock, the ceremonies of the spike driving being concluded at the first named hour.

Among the addresses to be delivered upon the occasion of beginning actual construction work on the railroad will be those by Mayor Springer and President J. A. Taylor, of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce; Mayor Guthrie, of Southport; R. W. Davis, Esq., of Southport, and many others. Mr. Z. W. Whitehead, of this city, is president of the railroad company, and Mr. W. H. Chadbourn, of Wilmington, is first vice presideint.

COAST LINE CHANGES.

Mr. Graham Farmer Promoted—Mr. Sweeney to Charleston, S. C.

It is semi-officially announced from Atlantatic Coast Line headquarters in this city that effective August 1st, Mr. T. J. Sweeney, now chief travelling auditor of the system, will become agent of the road at Charleston, S. C., succeeding the presnt agent who has resigned on account of his health. Mr. Sweeney is succeeded by Mr. W. Graham Farmer, now of the auditing department of the system in this city. Both are clever, capable railroad men and their promotions in their chosen line of work will come with gratification to a great many friends not only in Wilmington but over the progressive system with which they are connected. It is presumed that Mr. Farmer will continue his headquarters here. Wilmington would regret exceedingly to lose him and his excellent family as residents. Mr. Sweeney will have charge of one of the most important agencies of the Coast Line at Charleston.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE

Habeas Corpus Hearing in Famous Rowland Case Continued at Raleigh Yesterday.

WRECK SEABOARD TRAIN?

State Intimates That Dr. Rowland May Have Tried This on Engineer Strange, Whose Wife He Married—Case Goes Over.

(By Associated Press.)

Raleigh, July 23.—In the hearing for release under habeas corpus proceedings in behalf of Dr. and Mrs. D. S. Rowland, in jail and indicted for the murder by poison of Charles R. Strange on April 6 last, Mrs. Rowland at that time being Strange's wife, States witnesses were on the stand all day and the hearing goes on tomorrow.

Thus far the State has not proven death by poison, the only testimony being such as to indicate that Strange's sudden death was unnatural; that Mrs. Strange called in Dr. Rowland to attend Mr. Strange for a slight illness and that in three hours Strange was dead; that Mrs. Strange was faithless to her husband in conduct with Dr. Rowland; that within six weeks of Strange's death she and Rowland were together at a hotel in Norfolk and were later married.

The contention of the State is that because of the infatuation of Rowland and Mrs. Strange for each other, that with Mrs. Strange's co-operation and active help, Dr. Rowland poisoned Strange with a hypodermic injection.

The bookkeeper of a wholesale drug store was introduced late this afternoon to show that two days before Strange's death the drug store, by special telegraphic orders, had secured aconitine for Dr. Rowland, but the evidence was not in such shape as to be admitted and an effort will be made to get it in tomorrow.

The line of questioning by the State indicates its purpose to try to show that Rowland in March made an attempt to wreck a Seaboard Air Line train of which Strange was the engineer.

The train referred to was No. 84, on which Strange was running a few days before his death. Counsel for the prosecution and defence bantered one another as to which had possession of the most facts about the matter. This with some proof of persons is expected tomorrow.

The prosection today showed by H. J. Stewart and others that the condition of the body of Strange was, during the night after the death of the man, was brought about by accotine poison. Engineer Tight, Engineer Steele and others were introduced to prove that Rowland and Mrs. Strange were having licentious relations a long while before the death of Strange, whereas both in conversation at the time of the death, declared they had never before met. Mrs. Strange said that the telephone central operator had sent Rowland because she said that she had asked central to send some good physician, when she Mrs. Rowland had already called Dr. Rogers. The evidence is that she called Dr. Rowland direct, telling him that her husband was "slightly sick," and to come to see him. The statements made on the stand by relatives of the dead engineer, his sister and brother especially, make it plain that they are very bitter against Mrs. Rowland, the former wife of Strange, and that they will hang her if they can.

Charles Doan, a young white man of Yancey county, was pardoned today by the Governor. Two years ago Doan shot his brother in fun, using a charge of powder and a gun wad. The injury produced blood poison, resulting in death. Doan was convicted of manslaughter and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

MISS ZILPHIA MERRITT.

Passed Away at Her Home on Bladen Street Early Yesterday.

Miss Zilphia A. Merritt, daughter of the late Robert and Mrs. Zilphia Merritt, of this city, passed away at 4 o'clock yesterday morning at her home on Bladen, between Third and Fourth streets, aged 53 years. She had been in ill health for some time, and while her death was not unexpected, it came as a sad blow to the family and friends. She is survived by two brothers and one sister, Messrs. M. J. and R. W. Merritt, and Miss Sarah C. Merritt. The funeral will be conducted from Bladen Street M. E. Church by Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, this morning at 10 o'clock, and the interment will be in Bellevue Cemetery.

One Case in Police Court.

There was but one defendant in the police court yesterday. He was T. J. Howard, a middle-age white man charged with disorderly conduct in cursing and abusing Mr. C. L. Martin, operator of the moving picture machine in the Academy Five Cent Theatre. The case as related by Mr. Martin was a particularly aggravated one and Howard was taxed with $10 and costs and given severe reprimand by the Mayor.

TRYING FOR AN ALIBI

Second of Anson County Lynching Cases Still on Trial at Monroe, N. C.—Zeke Lewis, Town Marshall, is Defendant.

(By Associated Press).

Charlotte, N. C., July 23.—The taking of testimony in the case of Zeke Lewis, one of the Anson county citizens charged with the lynching of J. V. Johnson, countrary to expectations was not completed when court took a recess late this afternoon.

When the defense rested, court adjourned with the understanding that the State would put in testimony in rebutal tomorrow and it will be Thursday before the jury gets the case.

In addition to the testimony of defendant himself, who detailed every move he made on the night of the lynching, the defense introduced a dozen witnesses in support of the alibi which it set out to establish yesterday.

Saturday's proceedings concluded with the testimony of Sheriff Bogan, Miss Bogan and Kendall, Sr., State's witnesses. The State continued Monday morning by putting Young Kendall on the stand first. He testified that he recognized the defendant, Zeke Lewis, and others at the meeting of the conspirators near Jones creek. On cross examination he said he did not remember seeing any matches struck at the jail. Bogan and his daughter had sworn that matches were struck there and Bogan said that the lightning of matches and the flash of a gun enabled him to see the defendant.

Bert Bennett, chief of police at Wadesboro, said he went down near the jail at 2 o'clock and saw a Mr. McRae, who told him the lynchers were at work. Afterwards he went down the road toward the place where the lynching occurred with C. R. Luther and met a man. Luther said, "Hello, Zeke," The man replied, "This is not Zeke; it's Battle Lewis." Witness was appointed a special officer to arrest Battle Lewis, but had never been able to find him. He is one of the three men who ran away On cross examination he said he did not see Zike Lewis that night.

HEWLETT FAMILY REUNION.

Honor to ex-Sheriff of New Hanover on 79th Birthday.

Gathered at the hospitable home of Mr. J. B. Fales yesterday were in reunion all the living children of ex-Sheriff Elijah Hewlett, except his only living son, Addison, who is at the Jamestown Exposition. A most excellent dinner was served at 1 P. M., and the day was delightfully spent by the descendants of Mr. Hewlett and invited guests. The occasion of this reunion was the 79th birthday of Mr. Hewlett and all present joined in wishing him many happy returns. The children were Mrs. J. A. Hewlett, Mrs. William Hollis, Mrs. J. H. Holton, Mrs. J. B. Fales, and Mrs. John Hewlett with Mrs. Robert Hewlett, widows of the deceased sons.

Rev. S. D. Swain, of Lexington, N. C., a former pastor and their present pastor, Rev. G. A. Martin, and his wife and Miss Marshbanks, of Mars Hill, were special guests.

Mr. Hewlett is an excellent citizen and has served his country in several honored positions. He was one of the first commissioners of New Hanover, was county treasurer for fourteen years and sheriff of the county for four years after which he retired from public service with the esteem of hosts of friends. For years he has been a consistent member of Masonboro Baptist Church, of which he was Sunday School superintendent.

MORE MAXWELLS ARE HERE.

Popular Type of Automobiles Ordered by Wilmington People.

Mr. Frank Herbst, Wilmington agent for the Maxwell Motor Car Company, has just received another fine line of cars for Wilmington purchasers and they are now delivered and are being much admired on the streets. Among the recent purchasers are Miss Mary Bridgers, Mr. Albert Rothschild, Mr. B. B. Humphrey and Mr. Herbert F. Wilder. In addition to these Mr. Herbst has also shipped to Mr. James Sprunt at his Summer home at Narrangansett Pier one of the handsome touring cars made by the Maxwell people and he has sold a handsome machine to Dr. D. K. Wilson, of Savannah, Ga.

The Maxwell is a very popular machine in Wilmington and they have given fine satisfaction to all purchasers.

DELIGHTED HER AUDIENCE.

Miss Horn Heard With Much Pleasure at Y. M. C. A. Last Night.

Miss Horn, a gifted vocalist of New York, who is visiting in the city, was heard with much pleasure in a number of selections at the Y. M. C. A. last night by quite a number of members of the Association and friends. Among the numbers were "The Holy City," "Dearie," "Forgotten," and other selections. Miss Horn has a charming voice and was heard at what seemed her best last evening. The entertainment was greatly enjoyed by all who were so fortunate as to be present, and many still hope to hear her again.

HEADWAY ON DOCKET

Considerable Progress Made Yesterday on Disposition of Cases in Superior Court.

MURPHY GETS FIVE YEARS

Charged With Inflicting Wounds Which Caused Death of Ellis Benjamin—True Bill for Murder Returned—Grand Jury.

Considerable progress was made on the docket in Superior Court yesterday. Of the 90 odd cases for trial at this term, all but 25 have been disposed of, but those that remain are the more important of the term and will require some time for disposition.

The case of Lounie Snipes was called up yesterday morning for the purpose of agreeing upon a day to begin the trial, but so many uncertainties encompassed any arrangements proposed, that the matter was again continued until this morning at 9 o'clock.

Only one session of the court was held yesterday and that was from 9 A. M. to 2 P. M., but the grand jury worked on through the day, sending a committee out for an inspection of some of the county institutions in the afternoon.

Court met at 10 A. M. and the Sheriff returned as talesmen for the day: J. C. Springer, D. O. Westbrook, J. C. McLamb, H. W. Penny, Jno. E. Crow, E. B. Moss, Jos. H. Watters, C. J. Mitchell, Sam Bear, Jr., W. J. Davis, Emanuel I. Bear and Elijah Hewlett, excused by the court, Sam Bean, Jr.

The following cases were disposed of during the day:

Charles Fowler, colored, assault with deadly weapon in shooting L. W. Bolton, a white man of Acorn Branch; two years on the roads.

John Ellerbee, larceny; defendant enters plea of guilty of forcible trespass; judgment continued.

James Register, disturbing excursion; fined $50 and costs, the whole amounted to $72.10.

Warren Dixon, John Pigford, Will Martin, Wm. Townsend and Sam Hardison, gambling, fined $15 and costs each, gambling reduced to $10 and costs to Pigford and Dixon; capias to issue for Hardison.

Joe Murphy, the young negro charged with inflicting wounds which later caused the death of Ellis Benjamin, colored, at his home in Florence, S. C., the fight having occurred at the Champion Compress in this city, tendered through his counsel, Woodus Kellum, Esq., a submission of manslaughter. The same was accepted by the solicitor and defendant was sentenced to five years on the roads.

Clyde Caston, the young white man charged with carrying a concealed weapon, and an assault with a deadly weapon, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs in each case. Coston is the young man who ran amuck with a pistol on Princess street on Saturday night a few months ago and accosted a stranger at Front and Princess.

Harry Davis, charged with removing a corner stone, pleaded guilty and was let off with costs.

Scipio Sterling, charged in two cases with larceny, was called and failed and bond was forfeited.

Richard Walker and Frank Shipman, the colored boys arrested two weeks ago by Road Superintendent Herbert Hocutt for throwing glass on the turnpike, each submitted to the charge and were fined $10 and costs.

Thos. Moseley, charged with larceny, submitted to forcible trespass and was sentenced to six months on the roads.

Thos. Martin assault with deadly weapon and carrying a concealed weapon, case contiued for defendant.

Thos. Hampton, assault with deadly weapon; verdict of not guilty by jury.

Harry Pritchard and Isaac Hooker, damage to personal property, the fishing boat of Capt. W. Z. Burriss, verdict of not guilty by jury.

Hooker was immediately re-arrested on a warrant from Dare county, charging forcible trespass and cursing and abusing and using vile and indecent language to a lady. The prisoner was remanded to jail until an officer from Dare county can come for him.

B. and M. May, junk dealers, charged with receiving stolen goods, paid the costs and a plea of nolo contendere was entered.

The grand jury came into court during the day and returned a true bill for murder against Robert Mills, alias Robert Walker, a colored boy, charged with stabbing to death another negro on Nixon street one night a month or two ago.

Arrested at Dillon, S. C.

Advices were received in the city yesterday that a negro for whom a warrant had been sent to Dillon, S. C., from Wilmington had been shot by the officers there in effecting his arrest. The warrant was sworn out in Justice Furlong's court by Mr. Frank T. Mills, charging the negro with obtaining some $16 or $18 from him under false pretenses. The negro was shot in the shoulder and as soon as he is able to leave the infirmary in Dillon he will be brought here for trial.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Under the heading "The Slowing Up Process" the New York Journal of Commerce, always careful and conservative, prints the following editorial:

"The interview with leading financial authorities which we presented to our readers on Saturday indicates a general opinion that there must be a slowing up in business activity in this country and a recession in the cost of doing things. The process of retrenchment has already begun in the East. It is certain that the advance in wages and in prices has gone too far and is the chief cause of an automatic putting on of brakes. The cost of carrying on business and of plans for extending its facilities while it is profitable has so absorbed capital and extended credit as to cripple the very operations for which capital is needed. The floating supply is exhausted and the limit of borrowing has been reached. When capital can not be had or costs so much that a probable return from its use can not be counted upon there must necessarily be a halt. Railroads must abandon or defer their plans for extensions, and improvements and building operations and industrial equipment must slacken .This is the ineveterable result of increased cost of capital and of labor and materials.

"This means as a matter of course that less material will be demanded from those who produce or manufacture it and there will be less labor employed, not only in the constructive work of the railroads and in building operations, but in the industries which supply their materials. When the demand for labor diminishes and men are out of work there will be a competition that will necessarily bring wages down, for labor cost must be reduced in order to bring prices down. Prices must come down in order to revive the demand for materials and supplies and make their renewed use in increasing volume possible. Resistance to this process will only aggravate the situation. There is sure to be resistance because working men seldom realize that they are the worst sufferers from high prices, since the advance in the cost of living, that is, of what wages buy, keeps ahead of the advance in wages. What labor most needs is to keep up the volume of production and keep down its cost and to secure an equitable distribution of its proceeds. When rising prices produce a check upon production, as they inevitably must as capital becomes exhausted and credit strained, the brunt of reaction is felt first and most severely by labor, and it has no reserve to fall back upon.

"The main source of trouble at the present time is the exhaustion of capital and the resources of credit by expansion and inflation and the extravagance and waste that always accompany them. This not only hampers those who are seeking capital for further expansion, but it effects commercial credit. Interest rates are high in the transactions of trade and accommodation is hard to get, while business profits must diminish at the same time that buying capacity and the consumption of goods are declining. This means again that prices must come down in commodities ready for consumption and the cost of purveying to the consumers must be lessened. Already there has been a notable curtailment in the market for luxuries and the pressure is felt in that for necessities. There is less spending and continued business activity would mean accumulation of unsold stocks. To avoid having that go too far the reaction must extend to production.

"The money situation will be relieved by this slackening of industries and business activity, and it can be effectually and permanently relieved in no other way. Demands upon the short supply of capital must be relaxed so as to allow the supply to increase by accumulation. The process of adjustment is slow and difficult, because accummulation in a time of reduced production demands severe retrenchment and economy. It is the penalty of a lack of saving in the past and of too much expansion. But the sooner this process begins the less severe and prolonged will it be. There is need of easing up in the money market to tide over the next requirement for marketing the country's crops. We should be ill prepared for this except for this very slowing up and letting down in business. Only that will carry us through without a serious strain. It is certainly no time for speculative movements which will interfere with conserving strength for the autumn demands. It is a time for conservative calculation for endurance of such strain as cannot be avoided."

A Memorable Day.

One of the days we remember with pleasure, as well as with profit to our health, is the one on which we became acquainted with Dr. King's New Life Pills, the painless purifiers that cure headache and billiousness, and keep the bowels right. 25c at R. R. Bellamy's Drug Store.

CURRENT COMMENT.

"It is now asserted that President Roosevelt is possessed with the idea that part ownership of railroads by the government would be a good thing A search of history will fail to develop a single case in which partnership between the government and the individual resulted in satisfaction to either."—Galveston News (Dem).

—"It is unfortunate that good and well meaning members of any legislative body are not always as well posted as they should be. It is equally unfortunate that they often fail to reflect that a law which can not be enforced is a great mistake and tends to breed disrespect or defiance for other laws. In short, the impulse to do something without knowing what the effect will be is an unfortunate failing and too often leads to bad results . We suppose the mania for reforming everything and everybody will spend its force and all will be serene again."—Montgomery Advertiser (Dem).

—"How could the Republican masses go into ecstasies over a man of the type of Mr. Cortelyou, after throwing up their hats in delirious pride and joy over a man of Mr. Roosevelt's extraordinary type? How could there be a real boom for Mr. Cortelyou in a generation which has worshipped at the shrine of Mr. Roosevelt—man of action and preachments? It is, of course, possible for Mr. Cortelyou to get the nomination. But wouldn't the average Republican voter find it slightly difficult to shout for Cortelyou after seven deliriously exciting years of President Roosevelt?"—Baltimore Sun (Ind. Dem).

—"When the New York World speaks of Governor Johnson as an unknown it merely expresses the characteristic New York view that a man whose face is unfamiliar in Broadway is nobody. Governor Johnson and his opinions are at least as well known in the South as are those of any New Yorker except Parker and Hearst. It is quite natural and to be expected that a New York newspaper should not discover that Governor Johnson has been freely discussed in connection with the Presidency in various parts of the country for many months and that it should herald Colonel Watterson's allusions to him as the exposure of a dark secret. Solitary confinement of the Minnesotan's fame was a sentence which even Colonel Watterson could not enforce."—Charleston News and Courier (Dem).

—We would demand nothing for the South because we are of the South. We would ask no honor merely as a share of the political honors of our system. We bring no sectional prejudice to bear against aspirants from other States. But it is quite proper to maintain so far as we are able the ideals of the Democratic party which has exactly Southern loyalty for so many generations—ideals to which the years, even generations, of defeat. And we are within our rights to ask all the States of the great North and West to regard us a constituent part of the republic and to consider our statesmen according to their capacity, character and merit. If we have no men worthy of the confidence and honor of the party, cut them out. If our leaders are strong, able, pure patriotic and sound then they are entitled to consideration, and we ask consideration upon no other basis."—Houston Post (Dem).

—"It is evident that the State courts of North Carolina don't intend to be dominated by the Federal Courts in cases, in which they do not think the Federal Courts have a right to interfere. The Southern and other railroads in that State have been relying on the Federal Courts to uphold them in refusing to submit to the State law which fixes the maximum passenger rate at two and a quarter cents a mile. Judge Pritchard of the United States Circuit Court has been doing what he could for the railroads, but he has not succeeded in preventing Judge Long of the State Court from sentencing the Southern to pay a fine of $30,000 and one of its ticket agents to pay a fine of $5. Unless the railroads obey the law there will be other fines besides heavy suits against them. The machinery of the State criminal courts has been put in operation and there is certain to be serious trouble for the officials of the railroads unless they respect the law. The Governor is behind the courts and all the power of the State will be used to uphold the passenger rate law.—Savannah News (Dem.)

TWINKLINGS.

—"There goes a woman who once declined to be my wife." "Yet she doesn't look like an unusually intelligent person, does she?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

—Landlord—"Sir, the other tenants will not stay in the flat if you insist on playing the cornet." Mr. Toots—"I'm glad of that. They were very annoying."—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

—Wigg—"Tillie Topnotes says she is saddest when she sings." Wagg—"Wrong. The people who have to listen to her are sadder."—Philadelphia Record.

—Dupont had just undergone a surgical operation, and was lying in his bed pondering over the expense that it would mean when the doctor entered. "I will just take your temperature." he said. "Quite right," said Dumont mournfully,"for that really is about the only thing I've got left."—Pele Mele.

—"What profession does your son intend to follow, after he gets out of college?" asked the visitor of Farmer Kornkob. "I don't think he'll follow any," replied Farmer Kornkob. "I think he'll just sit down, smoke cigarettes, and let them all go by him."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

—A Boston lawyer, who brought his wit from his ntive Dublin, while cross-examining the plaintiff in a divorce trial, brought forth the following: "You wish to divorce this woman because she drinks?" "Yes, sir." "Do you drink yourself?" "That's my business!" —angrily. Whereupon the unmoved lawyer asked: "Have you any other business?"—Everybody's.

The Greensboro Keeley Institute!

The Only one in North Carolina

Note of Warning

To The Public:

The Keeley Cure has now been in successful operation for 28 consecutive years and the merits and reputation of the Dr. Leslie E. Keeley Remedies have been throughly established. Because of this fact, many imitators are seeking to turn this knowledge to their own advantage by falsely claiming that they are able to sell and administer our remedies and treatment. It should be borne in mind that the Keeley Remedies are only to be obtained at establishments known by the uniform name of The Keeley Institute. There is one or more of these establishments in nearly every State in the Union, besides several in foreign countries. THERE IS ONLY ONE KEELEY INSTITUTE IN THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, AND THAT IS LOCATED AT GREENSBORO. At all Keeley Institutes the remedies used are procured from our laboratory, and in all cases they are administered by physicians who have been especially instructed by us. It follows, therefore, that all other establishments claiming to be able to sell our remedies and administer our treatment are obtaining money under false pretenses and will be dealt with accordingly. The public is warned that under no circumstances can Keeley remedies or treatment be obtained except at authorized Keeley Institutes. These imitators sometimes adopt similar names to those by which our remedies are known, but if patients will take pains to see that they are in an authorized Keeley Institute they need not fear imposition. The Keeley remedies will cure inebriety, all kinds of drug using, the tobacco habit and neurasthenia; they are never administered in hospitals and no patients are treated at Keeley Institutes for other than the above named diseases.

THE LESLIE E. KEELEY CO.,
Dwight, Illinois.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE, at Greensboro, N. C., is the only one in this State, and all representations that there is in this State any cure that is identical with or the same as the Keeley Double Chloride of Gold Cure, are malicious, false and made for the purpose of deceiving. We learn with indignant regret that such claim is being made, and feeling that if it be hurtful to us it will prove even more disastrous to those who are deceived thereby, we sound this note of warning.

Medicine In Ancient Egypt.

There is much evidence in inscriptions and manuscripts that the ancient Egyptians practiced medicine and surgery extensively. Probably their practice was based on little knowledge of anatomy. Each physician treated only one or two diseases. The sick were exposed in public places so that others who had suffered similarly might tell them of helpful remedies. Diseases of the eye were best understood and received both medical and surgical treatment. The most important medical manuscript found in Egypt is the Papyrus Ebers, written 3000 B. C. and discovered in Memphis. Disease, according to the Egyptians, was due to the anger of some deity, the result of the triumph of evil in its struggle with good, an idea which is still very general throughout Africa and Asia and which at some time has been prevalent in modified forms in almost every race. —"Records of the Past."

In a Fog.

Nothing has such a bewildering effect as fog. Only animals which find their way by scent can get about in it with any certainty. Birds are entirely confused by it. Tame pigeons remain all day motionless and half asleep, huddled up, either in or just outside their pigeon houses. Chickens remain motionless for hours during heavy fogs. No bird sings or utters a call, perhaps because it fears to betray its whereabouts to an unseen foe. During one very thick fog a blind man was found wandering about a certain district of London. This man was in the habit of coming up every day from a suburb, carrying notes and parcels, and had scarcely ever lost his way before. Asked why he had gone astray (for he was quite blind, and it was supposed that weather would have made no difference), he said that in a fog the ground "sounded quite differently."—Chums.

A Peculiarity of Criminals.

Policemen, in spite of their trouble in solving what appear to be more or less simple problems, are fond of asserting that the ordinary criminal betrays an amazing lack or originality. In support of this they point out that when a criminal is arrested after doing one "stretch" the second charge against him is generally for the same sort of crime. They explain this by saying that each failure or each loss shows the "crook" some point of which he had been ignorant, and it is easy for him to convince himself that next time he will avoid that mistake and be successful. When he fails and is arrested the law shows him just where he bungled, and the gambler's love of taking a chance urges him to try his luck at the old game once more. Then there is also always to be considered the unconscious and "gritty" determination to make a success of the thing anyhow.—New York Tribune.

—Fayetteville Observer: Miss Lina Pemberton, one of Fayetteville's most popular girls, met with a very bad accident Saturday afternoon while out driving with her aunt, Mrs. John D. Williams, behind the latter's spirited horse, "Dolly Grey." They were descending the hill at Branson's creek, when the horse became unaccountably frightened at the sudden approach of three buggies, and reared up, so alarming the two young women that they both jumped from the vehicle, while the horse dashed down the hill, and only came to a stop when ascending the hill on the opposite side of the creek. Mrs. Williams was not injured, but Miss Pemberton was found with her shoulder buried deep in a bank of mud, unconscious. She soon recovered her senses, however, and then it was discovered that one of her ankles was broken. Her injuries were given necessary attention at St. Luke's Hospital.

—Wilson Times: There was some wholesale poisoning on the South side last evening. It seems that Nellie Stokes, colored, made a lot of ice cream yesterday and as she wanted to divide with her friends, herself and sixteen other colored people, were made seriously sick. She had purchased a dime case of Borden's condensed milk, and with this made some ice cream, flavored with lemon and vanilla extract. She partook of the cream herself, then giving some to Ida Clark, John Clark, Isabel Battle, Mandy Bynum, Wright Bynum, Sindy Rountree, Mary Taylor, Rosa Rountree, Ledda Holman, and several others, seventeen in all, and all colored people. In about an hour after eating the cream they became nauseated and began vomiting, and then there was a seriously sick crowd for a while. Dr. A. F. Williams and Dr. F. S. Hargrave attended the sick, and report, though some of the parties suffered much, they are now all out of danger.

Long Live The King.

is the popular cry throughout European countries; while in America, the cry of the present day is "Long live Dr. King's New Discovery, King of Throat and Lung remedies!" of which Mrs. Julia Ryder Paine, Truro, Mass., says: "It never fails to give immediate relief and to quickly cure a cough or cold." Mrs. Paine's opinion is shared by a majority of the inhabitants of this country New Discovery cures weak lungs and sore throats after all other remedies have failed; and for coughs and colds it's the only sure cure. THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Under the heading "The Slowing Up Process" the New York Journal of Commerce, always careful and conservative, prints the following editorial:

"The interview with leading financial authorities which we presented to our readers on Saturday indicates a general opinion that there must be a slowing up in business activity in this country and a recession in the cost of doing things. The process of retrenchment has already begun in the East. It is certain that the advance in wages and in prices has gone too far and is the chief cause of an automatic putting on of brakes. The cost of carrying on business and of plans for extending its facilities while it is profitable has so absorbed capital and extended credit as to cripple the very operations for which capital is needed. The floating supply is exhausted and the limit of borrowing has been reached. When capital can not be had or costs so much that a probable return from its use can not be counted upon there must necessarily be a halt. Railroads must abandon or defer their plans for extensions, and improvements and building operations and industrial equipment must slacken. This is the ineveterable result of increased cost of capital and of labor and materials.

"This means as a matter of course that less material will be demanded from those who produce or manufacture it and there will be less labor employed, not only in the constructive work of the railroads and in building operations, but in the industries which supply their materials. When the demand for labor diminishes and men are out of work there will be a competition that will necessarily bring wages down, for labor cost must be reduced in order to bring prices down. Prices must come down in order to revive the demand for materials and supplies and make their renewed use in increasing volume possible. Resistance to this process will only aggravate the situation. There is sure to be resistance because working men seldom realize that they are the worst sufferers from high prices, since the advance in the cost of living, that is, of what wages buy, keeps ahead of the advance in wages. What labor most needs is to keep up the volume of production and keep down its cost and to secure an equitable distribution of its proceeds. When rising prices produce a check upon production, as they inevitably must as capital becomes exhausted and credit strained, the brunt of reaction is felt first and most severely by labor, and it has no reserve to fall back upon.

"The main source of trouble at the present time is the exhaustion of capital and the resources of credit by expansion and inflation and the extravagance and waste that always accompany them. This not only hampers those who are seeking capital for further expansion, but it effects commercial credit. Interest rates are high in the transactions of trade and accommodation is hard to get, while business profits must diminish at the same time that buying capacity and the consumption of goods are declining. This means again that prices must come down in commodities ready for consumption and the cost of purveying to the consumers must be lessened. Already there has been a notable curtailment in the market for luxuries and the pressure is felt in that for necessities. There is less spending and continued business activity would mean accumulation of unsold stocks. To avoid having that go too far the reaction must extend to production.

"The money situation will be relieved by this slackening of industries and business activity, and it can be effectually and permanently relieved in no other way. Demands upon the short supply of capital must be relaxed so as to allow the supply to increase by accumulation. The process of adjustment is slow and difficult, because accummulation in a time of reduced production demands severe retrenchment and economy. It is the penalty of a lack of saving in the past and of too much expansion. But the sooner this process begins the less severe and prolonged will it be. There is need of easing up in the money market to tide over the next requirement for marketing the country's crops. We should be ill prepared for this except for this very slowing up and letting down in business. Only that will carry us through without a serious strain. It is certainly no time for speculative movements which will interfere with conserving strength for the autumn demands. It is a time for conservative calculation for endurance of such strain as cannot be avoided."

A Memorable Day.

One of the days we remember with pleasure, as well as with profit to our health, is the one on which we became acquainted with Dr. King's New Life Pills, the painless purifiers that cure headache and billiousness, and keep the bowels right. 25c at R. R. Bellamy's Drug Store.

CURRENT COMMENT.

"It is now asserted that President Roosevelt is possessed with the idea that part ownership of railroads by the government would be a good thing A search of history will fail to develop a single case in which partnership between the government and the individual resulted in satisfaction to either."—Galveston News (Dem).

—"It is unfortunate that good and well meaning members of any legislative body are not always as well posted as they should be. It is equally unfortunate that they often fail to reflect that a law which can not be enforced is a great mistake and tends to breed disrespect or defiance for other laws. In short, the impulse to do something without knowing what the effect will be is an unfortunate failing and too often leads to bad results. We suppose the mania for reforming everything and everybody will spend its force and all will be serene again."—Montgomery Advertiser (Dem).

—"How could the Republican masses go into ecstasies over a man of the type of Mr. Cortelyou, after throwing up their hats in delirious pride and joy over a man of Mr. Roosevelt's extraordinary type? How could there be a real boom for Mr. Cortelyou in a generation which has worshipped at the shrine of Mr. Roosevelt—man of action and preachments? It is, of course, possible for Mr. Cortelyou to get the nomination. But wouldn't the average Republican voter find it slightly difficult to shout for Cortelyou after seven deliriously exciting years of President Roosevelt?"—Baltimore Sun (Ind. Dem).

—"When the New York World speaks of Governor Johnson as an unknown it merely expresses the characteristic New York view that a man whose face is unfamiliar in Broadway is nobody. Governor Johnson and his opinions are at least as well known in the South as are those of any New Yorker except Parker and Hearst. It is quite natural and to be expected that a New York newspaper should not discover that Governor Johnson has been freely discussed in connection with the Presidency in various parts of the country for many months and that it should herald Colonel Watterson's allusions to him as the exposure of a dark secret. Solitary confinement of the Minnesotan's fame was a sentence which even Colonel Watterson could not enforce."—Charleston News and Courier (Dem).

—We would demand nothing for the South because we are of the South. We would ask no honor merely as a share of the political honors of our system. We bring no sectional prejudice to bear against aspironts from other States. But it is quite proper to maintain so far as we are able the ideals of the Democratic party which has exactly Southern loyalty for so many generations—ideals to which the years, even generations, of defeat. And we are within our rights to ask all the States of the great North and West to regard us a constituent part of the republic and to consider our statesmen according to their capacity, character and merit. If we have no men worthy of the confidence and honor of the party, cut them out. If our leaders are strong, able, pure patriotic and sound then they are entitled to consideration, and we ask consideration upon no other basis."—Houston Post (Dem).

—"It is evident that the State courts of North Carolina don't intend to be dominated by the Federal Courts in cases, in which they do not think the Federal Courts have a right to interfere. The Southern and other railroads in that State have been relying on the Federal Courts to uphold them in refusing to submit to the State law which fixes the maximum passenger rate at two and a quarter cents a mile. Judge Pritchard of the United States Circuit Court has been doing what he could for the railroads, but he has not succeeded in preventing Judge Long of the State Court from sentencing the Southern to pay a fine of $30,000 and one of its ticket agents to pay a fine of $5. Unless the railroads obey the law there will be other fines besides heavy suits against them. The machinery of the State criminal courts has been put in operation and there is certain to be serious trouble for the officials of the railroads unless they respect the law. The Governor is behind the courts and all the power of the State will be used to uphold the passenger rate law.—Savannah News (Dem.)

TWINKLINGS.

—"There goes a woman who once declined to be my wife." "Yet she doesn't look like an unusually intelligent person, does she?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

—Landlord—"Sir, the other tenants will not stay in the flat if you insist on playing the cornet." Mr. Toots—"I'm glad of that. They were very annoying."—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

—Wigg—"Tillie Topnotes says she is saddest when she sings." Wagg—"Wrong. The people who have to listen to her are sadder."—Philadelphia Record.

—Dupont had just undergone a surgical operation, and was lying in his bed pondering over the expense that it would mean when the doctor entered. "I will just take your temperature." he said. "Quite right," said Dumont mournfully, "for that really is about the only thing I've got left."—Pele Mele.

—"What profession does your son intend to follow, after he gets out of college?" asked the visitor of Farmer Kornkob. "I don't think he'll follow any," replied Farmer Kornkob. "I think he'll just sit down, smoke cigarettes, and let them all go by him."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

—A Boston lawyer, who brought his wit from his ntive Dublin, while cross-examining the plaintiff in a divorce trial, brought forth the following: "You wish to divorce this woman because she drinks?" "Yes, sir." "Do you drink yourself?" "That's my business!" —angrily. Whereupon the unmoved lawyer asked: "Have you any other business?"—Everybody's.

The Greensboro Keeley Institute!

The Only one in North Carolina

Note of Warning

To The Public:

The Keeley Cure has now been in successful operation for 28 consecutive years and the merits and reputation of the Dr. Leslie E. Keeley Remedies have been throughly established. Because of this fact, many imitators are seeking to turn this knowledge to their own advantage by falsely claiming that they are able to sell and administer our remedies and treatment. It should be borne in mind that the Keeley Remedies are only to be obtained at establishments known by the uniform name of The Keeley Institute. There is one or more of these establishments in nearly every State in the Union, besides several in foreign countries. THERE IS ONLY ONE KEELEY INSTITUTE IN THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, AND THAT IS LOCATED AT GREENSBORO. At all Keeley Institutes the remedies used are procured from our laboratory, and in all cases they are administered by physicians who have been especially instructed by us. It follows, therefore, that all other establishments claiming to be able to sell our remedies and administer our treatment are obtaining money under false pretenses and will be dealt with accordingly. The public is warned that under no circumstances can Keeley remedies or treatment be obtained except at authorized Keeley Institutes. These imitators sometimes adopt similar names to those by which our remedies are known, but if patients will take pains to see that they are in an authorized Keeley Institute they need not fear imposition. The Keeley remedies will cure inebriety, all kinds of drug using, the tobacco habit and neurasthenia; they are never administered in hospitals and no patients are treated at Keeley Institutes for other than the above named diseases.

THE LESLIE E. KEELEY CO.,
Dwight, Illinois.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE, at Greensboro, N. C., is the only one in this State, and all representations that there is in this State any cure that is identical with or the same as the Keeley Double Chloride of Gold Cure, are malicious, false and made for the purpose of deceiving. We learn with indignant regret that such claim is being made, and feeling that if it be hurtful to us it will prove even more disastrous to those who are deceived thereby, we sound this note of warning.

They're Worth While

Medicine In Ancient Egypt.

There is much evidence in inscriptions and manuscripts that the ancient Egyptians practiced medicine and surgery extensively. Probably their practice was based on little knowledge of anatomy. Each physician treated only one or two diseases. The sick were exposed in public places so that others who had suffered similarly might tell them of helpful remedies. Diseases of the eye were best understood and received both medical and surgical treatment. The most important medical manuscript found in Egypt is the Usprus Ebers, written 3000 B. C. and discovered in Memphis. Disease, according to the Egyptians, was due to the anger of some deity, the result of the triumph of evil in its struggle with good, an idea which is still very general throughout Africa and Asia and which at some time has been prevalent in modified forms in almost every race. —"Records of the Past."

In a Fog.

Nothing has such a bewildering effect as fog. Only animals which find their way by scent can get about in it with any certainty. Birds are entirely confused by it. Tame pigeons remain all day motionless and half asleep, huddled up, either in or just outside their pigeon houses. Chickens remain motionless for hours during heavy fogs. No bird sings or utters a call, perhaps because it fears to betray its whereabouts to an unseen foe. During one very thick fog a blind man was found wandering about a certain district of London. This man was in the habit of coming up every day from a suburb, carrying notes and parcels, and had scarcely ever lost his way before. Asked why he had gone astray (for he was quite blind, and it was supposed that weather would have made no difference), he said that in a fog the ground "sounded quite differently."—Chums.

A Peculiarity of Criminals.

Policemen, in spite of their trouble in solving what appear to be more or less simple problems, are fond of asserting that the ordinary criminal betrays an amazing lack or originality. In support of this they point out that when a criminal is arrested after doing one "stretch" the second charge against him is generally for the same sort of crime. They explain this by saying that each failure or each loss shows the "crook" some point of which he had been ignorant, and it is easy for him to convince himself that next time he will avoid that mistake and be successful. When he fails and is arrested the law shows him just where he bungled, and the gambler's love of taking a chance urges him to try his luck at the old game once more. Then there is also always to be considered the unconscious and "gritty" determination to make a success of the thing anyhow.—New York Tribune.

—Fayetteville Observer: Miss Lina Pemberton, one of Fayetteville's most popular girls, met with a very bad accident Saturday afternoon while out driving with her aunt, Mrs. John D. Williams, behind the latter's spirited horse, "Dolly Grey." They were descending the hill at Branson's creek, when the horse became unaccountably frightened at the sudden approach of three buggies, and reared up, so alarming the two young women that they both jumped from the vehicle, while the horse dashed down the hill, and only came to a stop when ascending the hill on the opposite side of the creek. Mrs. Williams was not injured, but Miss Pemberton was found with her shoulder buried deep in a bank of mud, unconscious. She soon recovered her senses, however, and then it was discovered that one of her ankles was broken. Her injuries were given necessary attention at St. Luke's Hospital.

—Wilson Times: There was some wholesale poisoning on the South side last evening. It seems that Nellie Stokes, colored, made a lot of ice cream yesterday and as she wanted to divide with her friends, herself and sixteen other colored people, were made seriously sick. She had purchased a dime case of Borden's condensed milk, and with this made some ice cream, flavored with lemon and vanilla extract. She partook of the cream herself, then giving some to Ida Clark, John Clark, Isabel Battle, Mandy Bynum, Wright Bynum, Sindy Rountree, Mary Taylor, Rosa Rountree, Ledda Holman, and several others, seventeen in all, and all colored people. In about an hour after eating the cream they became nauseated and began vomiting, and then there was a seriously sick crowd for a while. Dr. A. F. Williams and Dr. F. S. Hargrave attended the sick, and report, though some of the parties suffered much, they are now all out of danger.

Long Live The King.

is the popular cry throughout European countries; while in America, the cry of the present day is "Long live Dr. King's New Discovery, King of Throat and Lung remedies!" of which Mrs. Julia Ryder Paine, Truro, Mass., says: "It never fails to give immediate relief and to quickly cure a cough or cold." Mrs. Paine's opinion is shared by a majority of the inhabitants of this country New Discovery cures weak lungs and sore throats after all other remedies have failed; and for coughs and colds it's the only sure cure. RULES GOVERNING THE CONTEST. READ THEM CAREFULLY:

A.—All subscriptions must be received at the regular published rate. No discounts or commussions whatever will be allowed.

B.—No subscriptions will be received for a less time than three months.

C—Every subscription sent in under this offer must be a bone-fide new subscription to The Morning Star. No others will be received, and a careful investigation will be made to determine whether or not the name sent in is a new subscriber.

D.—Cash must accompany all orders.

E.—All that is necessary to win any of the trips enumerated above is that the subscriptions sent in shall aggregate the amounts named. Orders need not be for yearly subscriptions only. In securing subscriptions the following ratio may be observed: Two six-months' subscriptions are equivalent to one yearly subscription; four three months' subscriptions are equivalent to one yearly subscription.

F—The names of new subscribers, and the amounts collected, should be sent in as soon as obtained. Receipts will be forwarded to the subscribers at once, and the amount placed to the credit of the contestant.

G.—This exceptional offer will remain open to all until September 1, 1907. If you get to work at once there is time a plenty for you to secure one of the best trips. You may visit the Exposition any time you please.

YESTERDAY A SCORCHER.

Mercury Sizzled Up to 95 Degrees. The Heat Intense.

Yesterday was one of the hottest days of the month in Wilmington, in spite of a breeze from the southwest. The maximum temperature officially recorded by the Weather Bureau was 95 degrees, but the humidity made the heat conditions seem even worse. At 8 o'clock the official reading was 83 and the minimum for the day was 79, while the mean was 87. Last night at 8 o'clock the reading was 82 degrees. Although many people thought Monday one of the warmest propositions of the month, the mercury reached only 89 degrees. Charlotte had 94 degrees; Charleston, 94; Florence, 99; Goldsboro, 96; Greensboro and Lumberton, 96; Raleigh and Weldon, 94, and Newbern, 92. Wilmington, outside of her beaches, continues to be the Summer resort of the State, in spite of all the fuming and complaining about the heat by her own people.

FINE MILL SHOWING.

Annual Meeting of Stockholders at McColl, S. C., Past Week.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

McColl, S. C., July 23.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Marlboro Cotton Mills was held here on the 17th inst., the following having been chosen as the Board of Directors for the ensuing year: C. M. Parks, Hillsboro, N. C.; J. B. Pipkin, Reidsville, N. C.; D. L. Gore, Wilmington, N. C.; T. B. Morrison, Asheville, N. C.; E. Strudwick, Richmond, Va.; D. D. McColl, Bennettsville, S. C.; T. B. Gibson, A. W. Morrison and Robert Chapman, McColl, S. C.; The advisory Board consists of A. K. Odom, W. R. Tatum, J. R. Parker, M. Robert Chapman was elected president and treasurer with Mr. T. M. Hatch, secretary. The quarterly statement showed net profits for the past quartor, $67,922.34, or 7.05 per cent. on the capital stock. The annual statement showed net gains for the past year of $228,922.34, or about 25 per cent. on the capital stock for the year. The mills are in splendid condition and have fine prospects for the next year.

THE FIRM DISSOLVED.

Business of Crow & Taylor Will be Continued by J. H. Taylor.

The firm of Crow & Taylor, grocers, at 131 Market street, has been dissolved by mutual consent, Mr. William C. Crow withdrawing from the business which will be conducted in the future by Mr. J. Hargrove Taylor. Mr. Crow in retiring bespeaks for his successor the same patronage which has heretofore been accorded the copartnership. Mr. Taylor announces that the business will be continued by him and enlarged and extended. The firm is one of the most popular in the city and enjoys a wide patronage.

Decorations for Tournament.

The Decoration Committee of the Firemen's Tournament, consisting of C. W. Polvogt, chairman; A. D. Brown, M. W. Jacobi, D. L. T. Capps, J. M. Solky, L. Stein, C. W. Yates, B. Solomon, M. J. Heyer, I. Shrier, Geo. O. Gaylord, A. Shrier, H. C. McQueen, Jno. S. Armstrong, Geo. R. French and W. E. Perdew, met yesterday and much interest was manifested among the committee. Mr. W. H. Everitt, the professional decorator, was present and stated that he could decorate places of business down town from $5.00 upward. He is soliciting among the merchants and in addition to those firms mentioned in yesterday's paper, the following firms have also decided to join in: Taylor's Bazaar, Sloan & Sweeney, Morriss Distilling Co., Pepsi-Cola Co., E. —George H. Heyer was yesterday granted a permit to build two-room additions to dwelling houses owned by him on Brunswick, between Fourth and Fifth streets, the annexes to cost $150 each.

—By deed filed for record yesterday Edwin Barnes, Jr., and wife transferred to Samuel Aldrich, for $140, property on south side of Rankin street, 78 feet west of Bay street, 33x73 feet in size.

—The case of Dr. "Bill" Moore, colored, charged with false pretence, was still further continued in Justice Bornemann's court yesterday, at the request of Brooke G. Emple, Esq., attorney for the defence. The case will now be heard on July 31st at 9 o'clock.

—There were 1,300 negroes on the St. Mark's excursion to Carolina Beach Monday. Naturally there was some disorder, but it was of a trifling nature. Five such defendants were before Justice Furlong yesterday. A part of them were fined $5 and costs each, while one or two were let off with the costs.

—John Day, a white man, was taxed with $10 and costs in each of two cases against him in Justice Furlong's court yesterday. In one he was charged with beating his sister at their home between Seventh, Eighth, Taylor and Nixon streets, and in the other count he was charged with disorderly conduct.

—Assistant State Insurance Commissioner W. A. Scott, of Raleigh, was among the arrivals in the city yesterday. He is here to appear in the Superior Court against the colored women arrested at his instance a few weeks ago, charged with starting the fire which burned nearly a block of buildings, including a colored church, in the southern part of the city early in the Summer.

—The case of Contractor Thos. Simmons, charged with an assault in which serious injury was done to Architect H. E. Bonitz on the beach last Saturday morning, and also upon a peace warrant, will be called in Justice Bornemann's court this afternoon at 1 o'clock. Mr. Bonitz was on the streets yesterday, apparently little the worse for the terrible assault that is alleged to have been committed upon him.

—The Baraca and Philathea classes of Brooklyn Baptist Church have a treat in store for their friends in an excursion which they will give by moonlight on the steamer Wilmington tonight, leaving the city at 8 o'clock. The fare for the round trip will be only 25 cents. Refreshments will be served on board and there will be other diversions for the young folks.

—Mary Etta Pigford, wife of W. S. Pigford, a well known colored citizen, died night before last at the family home, No. 510 Wright street. The remains were taken yesterday morning to Pender county for interment. The deceased was a faithful member of the Baptist Church for 45 years, and was highly esteemed by all who knew her.

—Tomorrow night the steamer Wilmington will make a special trip, leaving the city at 8 o'clock for the mid-week dance at Carolina Beach. These excursions are patronized by among the leading young people of the city, and the event tomorrow night will be of more than the usual pleasure, because of the moonlight trip down on the steamer and the excellent opportunity for moonlight strolls along the beach upon arrival there.

—The steamer Wilmington will carry a large party to Southport at 9:15 A. M. today on the excursion given under the auspices of the classes of Mrs. King and Mrs. Sholar in Fifth Street M. E. Sunday School. The trip affords a fine opportunity to visit the Boy's Brigade in camp there, returning the same day. An opportunity will also be given to visit Fort Caswell in the afternoon at no extra charge. The fare for the round trip is only 50 cents.

MRS. B. F. PENNY DEAD.

Good Woman Entered Into Rest Yesterday—Funeral Today.

Mrs. Mary F. Penny, wife of Mr. B. Frank Penny, a well known and highly esteemed citizen of Wilmington, passed away at the family home in this city, No. 109 South Seventh street, yesterday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock, after a severe illness of some days with heart trouble. The news of her death will come with sadness to a great many friends, not only in this city, but elsewhere. Mrs. Penny was Miss Mary F. Brown, a daughter of the late W. F. and Mrs. Brown, of Wilmington, and was born February 7th, 1847, being in the 61st year of her age at the time of her death. She was married to Mr. Penny in Enfield, N. C., in 1868, and they had lived happily together for 39 years, most of which time was spent in this city. Mrs. Penny early in life consecrated herself to her Master and was one of the oldest members of the First Baptist Church in this city, noted for her piety and her strong Christian character. Her influence in the family circle, in the church and in the community will be sadly missed.

Mrs. Penny is survived by her husband, to whom she was ever tenderly devoted, four sons, one daughter and two half-brothers, all of whom have the tenderest sympathy of friends in their bereavement. The children are Messrs. W. F., B. R., and M. H. Penny, of this city; Mr. J. H. Penny, of Florence, S. C., and Mrs. C. V. Motte, of Wilmington. The two brothers are Mr. Henry Lumsden, of Brunswick county, and Mr. W. J. Brown, of Norfolk, Va. All members of the immediate family were at the bedside of Mrs. Penny when she passed away.

The funeral will be conducted from the First Baptist Church this afternoon at 5 o'clock, and the interment will be in Oakdale Cemetery.

A PRINCE OF DWARFS.

Career of the Famous Count Joseph Boruwlaski.

The most famous dwarf who has flourished in the British isles is undoubtedly Count Joseph Boruwlaski, whose long life—he died at the age of ninety-eight years—is another example of the longevity of his kind. Boruwlaski stood only three feet three inches in height. This did not prevent him from marrying a beautiful woman or from mixing in the best court society of the Georgian period. He was very amiably received at Cariton House by George IV. a few weeks before that monarch's coronation. So struck was the king by this dwarf's physical grace and mental accomplishments that he remarked to Charles Mathews, who had brought the little man, "If I had a dozen sons I could not wish them a more perfect model of elegance than the count."

Boruwlaski's last days were spent in peaceful retirement in the city of Durham. He tells us that in spite of the theory that dwarfs grow all their life he never added a quarter of an inch to his three feet three inches. When a lady asked him for his autograph, he sent these lines:

Poland was my cradle,
England is my nest,
Durham is my quiet place
Where my weary bones shall rest.

He had known Marie Antoinette as a child, and he was living when Queen Victoria was crowned. It is in the Church of St. Mary the Less at Durham, close to the cathedral, in which his body lies, that you read the following inscription:

"Near this spot repose the remains of Count Joseph Boruwlaski, a native of Pokucia, in the late kingdom of Poland. This extraordinary man measured no more than three feet three inches in height, but his form was well proportioned, and he possessed a more than common share of understanding and knowledge. After various changes of fortune, borne with cheerful resignation to the will of God, he closed his life in the vicinity of the cathedral on Sept. 5, 1837, in the ninety-eighth year of his age."—P. T. O. of London.

A TORNADO.

The Spiral That Connects the Earth With the Clouds.

While in Kansas a few years ago I had a very clear view of a tornado. It was about ten miles distant, passing swiftly over the prairie. It presented the appearance of a long rope about two feet in diameter. It extended from a dark, irregularly shaped cloud to the earth and was slightly curved. It was of nearly uniform thickness and leaned about thirty-five degrees from a perpendicular toward the cloud. A line drawn from where I stood to the cloud would have made an angle of about forty degrees with the earth's surface. After this ropelike projection had parted I noticed in the irregular cloud a perfectly shaped spiral of silver whiteness. It was shaped like a great auger and extended from the point where the funnel or rope had been connected with the cloud forward in the direction the cloud was moving. All around it was in wild commotion, but the spiral itself seemed to stand like a great white ribbon coiled auger shape and fixed secure. This spiral at the time I caught sight of it was lying in a nearly horizontal position, the forward end being only slightly elevated. I have never met any one who has seen this spiral in the tornado cloud, but by one who came dangerously near being caught by a passing tornado I was told that the center of the whirling funnel was as white as milk. From his statement, taken in connection with my own observations, I have formed the opinion that the center of all tornadoes is a perfectly shaped electrical spiral and that when in operation it connects the earth with the cloud. It is manifest that such a spiral would give the middle of the tornado funnel a white appearance. But it is not likely that one looking at it in its upright form would detect its spiral form. Indeed, it would have to turn itself in a most favorable position in order to reveal to the eye of the observer its spiral form.—Scientific American.

A Stamp Menagerie.

A very complete menagerie may be formed from a collection of postage stamps having animals, birds and fish as the central figures. The animals represented are lion, tiger, elephant, giraffe, jaguar, camel, hippopotamus, buffalo, bear, leopard, dog, kangaroo, deer, horse, cow, llama, goat, monkey, donkey, beaver, duckbill, seal, sable, gorilla, cobra, crocodile, tortoise. The fowl family is represented by the peacock, owl, heron, eagle, parrot, turkey, snipe, swan, goose, quail, dove, huiabird, emu, pheasant, lyre bird, apteryx, toreo. Of fish there are but two—the cod and carp. The insect kingdom has one representative in the butterfly, nestling in the coiffure of former Queen Liliuokalani.—Frank J. Stillman in St. Nicholas.

Willing to Help.

Willie was an only child, whose parents lived on a farm. He often grew very lonely and longed for a playmate. One day he asked his mamma why she didn't get him a little brother. Mother replied, "Willie, babies are too much trouble to 'tend." "Say, mamma, if you'll plant him, I'll hoe him."—Lippincott's.

British Army's First Trousers.

Perhaps the army revolution of deepest interest to the soldier himself was that effected in 1828, when for the first time he was put in trousers. The announcement from the horse guards took the following remarkable form: "His majesty has been pleased to approve of the discontinuance of breeches, leggings and shoes as part of the clothing of the infantry soldiers and of blue gray cloth trousers and half boots being substituted." In order to indemnify the "clothing colonels" for any hardship which the new order might cause it was decided that these gentlemen should no longer be called upon to provide the waistcoat of Tommy, but that Tommy should himself supply it out of his shilling a day. To reassure him it was pointed out that he was in a position to do so with comfort, because he would no longer have to buy gaiters.—London Chronicle.

The First Gas Tubes.

William Murdock, a Scottish mining engineer employed in the Redruth mines, Cornwall, appears to have been the first to suggest that gas might be conveyed in tubes and used instead of lamps and candles. He made a very ingenious gas lantern for himself, with which he used to light his way over the Cornish moors at night. This lantern consisted of a bag filled with gas and fitted with a tube, at the end of which the gas could be lighted. Carrying the bag under his arm, Murdock used to light his way home at night. On meeting any one it is said that he would give the bag a squeeze and thus send out a long tongue of flame. This led to his being looked upon as the demon of the Cornish moors.—London Telegraph.

The Voice of the People.

Bob Toombs of Georgia was massive in frame and a giant in intellect. A back country paper criticised a bill he was putting through the legislature. "This sheet," he reared, flourishing it aloft at a public meeting in Marietta, "is about the size of a boy's shirt tail and is called Vox Populi—the voice of the people! It has been established eight years and has a circulation of 100 weekly in a state with 1,000,000 population. Voice of the people! Why, it is the voice of one of the people, and he is an illiterate ass!"

Just as a Precaution.

In a small village in the south of Scotland an elder in the parish church was one day reproving an old woman who was rather the worst for liquor by saying, "Sarah, don't you know that you should fly from the tempter?" Sarah (not too well pleased)—Flee yersel'! Elder—Oh, Sarah, I have flown! Sarah—Aweel, I think ye'll be nane the waur o' anither flutter!—Scottish American.

A Hero.

A boatful of ladies and officers going to a picnic was swamped in crossing an East Indian river. A lady and an officer clung to an oar. "It is not enough for two," said the man. "Say goodby for me to the regiment." Then he left his hold of the oar and of life. It is easy to see that a romance might be founded on this, but these are the plain facts."

HARD TIMES SALE AT Wilmington's Great, Furniture Store.

Hard times seem to strike every place at the same time. Some manufacturers who had large stocks in warehouses, and not many cash orders, came to us a few weeks ago and made special prices for cash. We managed to raise the cash. Both steamers brought goods. One car load came in by rail. We now offer, while they last, Iron Beds, Oak Dressers, amongthe lot some nobby Princess Dressers, Chiffoniers, Wardrobes, Rockers, Sideboards and Center Tables, at real hard-time prices for cash.

LUMBERMEN AT SUMTER.

No Mention Made of Separation of the Associations.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Sumter, S. C., July 23.—The lumbermen of North and South Carolina met here today. The meeting was held behind closed doors, and the only statement given out was to the effect that the separation of the South Carolina men from the North Carolina Association was not mentioned. It was decided by the mill men of both States to close their mills for thirty days to secure better prices and conditions. It was also decided to hold a meeting of the representatives from both States at Norfolk, August 6th when an effort will be made to extend the general movement for better prices into Virginia and Maryland.

SENSATIONAL TRAGEDY.

Young Woman Shot Down and Lives of Others Endangered.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, July 23.—A sensational shooting in which a young woman lost her life, a man was critically injured and the lives of several other persons endangered, occurred here today. Charles Warner, a former merchant, whom the police believe to be insane shot down and almost instantly killed Miss Esther Norling, a young woman, without seeming cause in a store on West 42nd street, and then with a smoking revolver in his hand fled through the crowded thoroughfare, and under the cover of a fusilade which he discharged at his pursuers, made his escape through the building where he eluded the pursuing police for nearly three hours, only to suddenly appear in the store of John C. Wilson, a friend, on upper Broadway where he shot Wilson twice after making a request for a small loan. Wilson was turning to get the money when the bullet struck him down. Warner pushed aside the employes and ran into the street where his flight was ended by a blow on the head from a truckman. Warner was taken into custody by the police. Wilson was taken to the hospital where it was said this afternoon that his condition was critical. Business troubles are believed to have disordered Warner's mind. Miss Norling had frequently complained that the attentions of Warner, who was a former employe, were annoying and that she feared his mind was affected by his financial reverses. Warner is about sixty years old.

Warner made a desperate effort to free himself from the truckman who grappled with him. He fired one shot, which rebounded from the pavement, and the truckman to save his own life, brought his hook down on Warner's head with such force that he laid the scalp open and dropped Warner to the sidewalk unconscious.

Miss Norling was a young woman of excellent character and a musician of ability. Her mother died several years ago and her father remarried, since which time she had not lived with him. Her friends say Warner wished her to go into business with him, she having saved up some money and his frequent visits to her are said to have been with that motive in view.

"Ginger" of West Point.

The man who graduated at the foot of the class that year (1880) had been six years at the Point and had just squeezed through at last—Harold S. Borland, commonly known as Ginger on account of his hair being the exact color of ground ginger. Borland had distinguished himself while reciting to Captain Benton in ordnance by a remarkable answer to the question, "Mr. Borland, how many pieces will a twelve inch shell burst into?" the average number having been determined well by experiment. Ginger threw his eyes, unexpressive, but very blue, on the floor and deliberated awhile. Then slowly lifting them to a point near the ceiling over Captain Benton's head, still deeply reflecting, he finally responded, "Not less than two."—General Morris Schaff in Atlantic.

Largest Crab.

In the American Museum of Natural History in New York is a wonder of marine life. It is a gigantic Japanese crab, measuring twelve feet across, making it the largest in the world. The specimen is a type of the spider crab, which inhabits the waters of the group of islands forming the empire of Japan. The body portion of the crab is the size of a half bushel measure, while its great arms could easily encircle the figure of a man. Its legs resemble poles and are extremely elastic, and if strung into one line they would reach to the top of a four story apartment building.—New York Herald.

And Then He Ran.

Will Against Will.

A certain prosy professor of physics is so great a misanthrope that he deliberately announces his lectures for the days when he has reason to think that his students will least want to attend. He commanded their presence on an election day once and drove them nearly wild by delivering a tedious essay on will power.

"If he wills it, a man may accomplish anything," he droned. "Let him make up his mind not to die, and he will live in spite of disease; let him decide that life is not worth living, and he will drop peacefully out of it. I challenge any student to cite an instance in which the power of the will has not triumphed over everything."

Up shot the reprobate of the class, a youth beloved by all his companions for his daring humor.

"Sir, I accept your challenge. You are wrong," he said.

"Pray mention an example," retorted the professor dryly.

"With pleasure, sir. An hour ago I willed that this lecture should be brought to a speedy conclusion. I've willed the same thing sixty times since, but up to now it hasn't come off."

"Nor will it," said the professor, "for I have not only willed that this lecture should last another hour, but am perfectly willing that it should do so." And it did.

Things He Didn't Understand.

A shrewd, worldly agnostic and a Christian clergyman dressed in a modest clerical suit sat at the same table in the Pullman dining car. They were waiting for the first course at the dinner, a delicious Hudson river shad. Eying his companion coldly for a moment, the agnostic remarked:

"I judge you are a clergyman, sir?"

"Yes, sir. I am in my Master's service."

"Yes, you look it. Preach out of the Bible, don't you?"

"Oh, yes; of course."

"Find a good many things in that old book that you don't understand, don't you?"

"Oh, yes; some things."

"Well, what do you do then?"

"Why, my dear friend, I simply do just as I do while eating this delicious shad. If I come to a bone I quietly lay it on one side and go on enjoying the shad and let some fool insist on choking himself with the bones."

Then the agnostic wound up his Waterbury watch and went into the smoker.—Exchange.

No Need to Talk.

"Does the baby talk yet?" asked a friend of the family.

"No," replied the baby's disgusted little brother; "the baby doesn't need to talk."

"Doesn't need to talk?"

"No. All the baby has to do is to yell, and it gets everything there is in the house that's worth having."—Tit-Bits.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—The A. C. L. will sell reduced rate tickets to Selma on July 24th, on account of the Wyatt Day Celebration there. Wyatt was the first Southern soldier to fall in the Civil War.

—Fayetteville Observer: Mr. Davis, field secretary of the Anti-Saloon League, delivered one of his famous lectures on temperance in the armory last night to a fairly large audience. His contention was that the temperance fight is to be made by the church. He is a forceful speaker and made a stirring plea for prohibition.

—Lumberton R obesonian: It now looks as if it will be necessary to invoke the aid of the Corporation Commission in order to get the old passenger station moved. It is decidedly unsightly and blocking as it does the way of passengers is dangerous and might be condemned as a nuisance. The Board of Trade and Industry having taken up the good work, might complete it by taking the matter in hand and compelling its removal.

—Weldon News: Over 200 operatives in the Roanoke Cotton Mills, at Roanoke Rapids, walked out on strike last week. The mill works 11 hours a day and the operatives wanted this reduced to 10 hours. The managers did not think they could cut the hours of work down to 10 hours, and when so informed the operatives walked out. The mill people offered to compromise the matter with the operatives Saturday by reducing the hours of work from 11 to 10 and a half hours. The operatives on the other hand, believe that 10 hours work in a mill should constitute a day's work.

—Maxton Correspondence Robesonian: The stockholders of the Maxton Oil and Fertilizer Company, one of Maxton's recently incorporated industries, met in the office of McLean & Black on Monday night, July 15th, and perfected the following organization: Directors, J. W. Carter, A. J. McKinnon, R. M. Williams, T. O. Evans, W. H. Hisscox, S. B. McLean and A. H. Currie. Immediately after the stockholders meeting, the directors met and elected the following officers: J. W. Carter, president; T. O. Evans, vice president; W. H. Hisscox, secretary and treasurer. The stock books are now open for subscriptions.

—Charlotte Observer: Passengers coming in this morning on Seaboard train No. 45, due at Charlotte at 11:45 were surprised to note as they gazed out of the windows at a road crossing about two miles this side of Rockingham that the train had apparently shaved off the end of a loaded wagon standing just at the edge of the track. Those who glanced backward saw that something had happened, and as the train came to a sudden stop there was some little excitement. Everybody piled off the train and ran back to the crossing, where it was found that a fine team of mules, belonging to Mr. W. D. McRae, of Rockingham, had been struck, the collision resulting in the instant death of one of the mules.

—Asheville, July 22: News was received here by telephone today of the attempted criminal assault of Mrs. Graham, telegraph operator at Paint Rock, yesterday afternoon. According to the message, the victim was walking along a road near Paint Rock when she was assaulted by a man whose name is given as John Kennedy. It is said that the man dragged his victim from the road and had her choked almost into insensibility when the crime was detected by persons passing near that way. The man was taken into custody and the victim saved from the criminal assault. He was carried to Marshall last evening and placed in jail. It is said that considerable excitement was created at Paint Rock as a result of the crime and that but for the prompt action in sending Kennedy to Marshall he would have been roughly handled.

—Lumberton Robesonian: Mr. W. F. Willoughby, who lives about 11 miles south of Lumberton, in Wishart's township, ran upon some tracks the other day the like of which he says he has never seen. That they are made by some terrible monster that it would be an awful thing to meet face to face when you were without means of defense he is firmly convinced, and he wants everybody to read this and take warning. This monster's track was measured accurately with a rule, and it is full four and one-half inches wide, and of different lengths—that is, sometimes the monster seems to walk on its toes, and then the track is four inches long, and then again sometimes it walks flat-footed, making a track seven inches long. It has five toes, and its stride is about the same as the stride of a mule.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit innoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

Accept no substitute. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Belle of Virginia BLENDED RYE

When a man goes for a drink of Belle of Virginia Whiskey he hurries because he knows he will have a fine drink, and when he comes away he smiles and smacks his lips because he has had it. Belle of Virginia is a blended whiskey—a rye whiskey carefully and scientifically blended from fine, pure, old whiskies. It's a really good honest article and to those who like a blended whiskey it will give satisfaction clear down to the ground.

Sold at the places where gentlemen go to get a drink.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, July 23.—The cotton market had a further advance during today's trading, with the close steady at a net advance of one to 23 points, the active new crop months were about 7 to 9 points net higher. Sales for the day were estimated at 450,000 bales.

The market opened steady at a decline of 3 to 6 points, under scattering liquadation and bear pressure, encouraged by lower cables. But there was a good demand at the decline and prices soon rallied on covering and bull support, based on the reports of very high temperatures in eastern and central sections of the belt, reported advance of 1-8c in the market for print cloths and cables from Manchester reporting a better demand for cotton goods from India and China. A prominent local spot house with New England connections, was a notable buyer on the advance, arousing rumors that New England spinners were hedging their requirements and there were rumors that concentrated short interests were attempted to reduce their lines. October sold up to 11.98 in the early afternoon or about 15 points net higher and new crop months generally showed net gains of about 13 to 15 points, while there was a sale of July at 12.10 or 25 points net higher. August was relatively easy. July showed the maximum gain at thec lose owing to a scattering demand from belated shorts and absence of offerings. The first bale of Georgia crop was received at Savannah today, which is a little ahead of the average, although the general crop is believed to be unusually late.

Receipts at the ports today, 1,557 bales against 1,728 last week, and 6,065 last year. For the week, 10,000 bales, against 10,361 last week, and 29,523 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 18 bales, against 1,997 last year, and at Houston, 1,015 bales, against 675 last year.

Spot cotton closed steady, 15 points advance; middling uplands, 13.10; middling Gulf, 13.35; sales, 500 bales.

Futures opened steady and closed.

MISS ADELAIDE NICHOLS

PERIODS OF PAIN

While no woman is entirely free from periodic suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. Irregularities and pain are positive evidence that something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to serious derangement of the feminine organism.

Thousands of women, have found relief from all periodic suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science.

It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs that period of its terrors. Women who are troubled with painful or irregular functions should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health and strength by taking

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Miss Adelaide Nichols of 334 West 29nd Street, New York City, writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"If women who suffer would only rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound their troubles would be quickly alleviated. I feel greatly indebted for the relief and health which has been brought to me by your inestimable remedy."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures Female Complaints such as Falling and Displacements, and Organic Diseases. Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole feminine system. For the derangements of the Kidneys of either sex Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. From the symptoms given, the trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.

FEARFUL STORY OF PACIFIC DISASTER

Survivors of Terrible Collision Between Steamer and Schooner Arriving at San Francisco

A WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Told of How She Escaped and What She Saw—Statement From Chief Engineer—Recapitulation of the Dead and Missing.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

San Francisco, July 23.—The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's passenger steamer Pomona arrived in San Francisco from Eureka at 10:30 A. M. today bringing form the latter place one of the surviving passengers of the wrecked steamer Columbia and the 32 members of the Columbia's crew, who were saved of her total complement of 53. The passenger is Mrs. O. Liedell, of this city.

The Pacific Coast Company's dock at the foot of Broadway was crowded with people when the high black hull of the Pomona hove in sight around the bend in the water front. The first comment from the watchers was "she brings no bodies" for the flag at her stern rails was flying at the masthead. The starboard rail of the Pomona was black with passengers and here and there among them, as the vessel ran alongside the wharf, could be discerned members of the ill-fated Columbia's crew whom the crowd upon the dock picked out by the nondescript clothing they wore. An erroneous report had been spread that the Pomona brought a number of the Columbia's passengers and this in part accounted for the throng of eager men and women assembled upon the dock. Wren the gang plank was hoisted to the Pomona's deck, officers of the Pacific Coast Line Company had difficulty in restraining people from clamoring aboard.

The crowd was made to stand back and kept a lane open while the Pomona's passengers came ashore. Each was stopped at the foot of the gang plank and asked excitedly "Were you a passenger upon the Columbia."

With the exception the answer was "No."

The exception was Mrs. Liedell. Clothed from head to foot in a dark brown ulster and her features hidden by a brown veil tied over her hat and under her chin she came falteringly down the plank and made her way uncertainly through the crowd. She held her handkerchief to her face as she walked and when asked by newspaper men for a recital of her experience she broke into tears and turned, shaking her head. "I don't want to say anything. I don't wan't to talk," she murmured.

Later Mrs. Liedell consented to talk and describing her experience, she said: "When the crash occurred I got out of my state room. Every one was excited—every one except the captain. He stood on the bridge, his arms extended, begging the passengers to be cool. The crew stood at the boats, cutting away at the lines that held them. There was no chance to lower them. All who would piled into the boats. Lots of people jumped over the side trying to climb onto bits of wood which were floating in the water. I did not have time to think. I ran to the side. There alongside was a raft. There was nobody on it. I jumped and struck on the raft. Other women got onto it also. Some crawled from the water, others jumped from the boat. Then the Columbia went down, bow first. The raft drifted around and water was over us. Two women and a little child were washed off and I never saw them again. One woman was left. Her hold was weak. She begged me to help her. I tried to hold her on but I was too weak. She died before my eyes. Oh, I can't forget that. I'll never forget that. She drowned and I could not help her. Who she was I don't know. Now and then I got a glimpse of another raft or boat. We got some pieces of wood after a while and used them for oars and finally, it must have been hours afterwards, we climbed on the San Pedro. It was a terrible climb up her side.

"Men helped, but I felt so old and weak I never thought I would get over it. The waves kept striking over us. We were sitting on two little narrow pieces of lumber. Suddenly a wave carried away the lumber we were sitting on.

"We managed to stay on the ship, however, but there were some who got that far, who got no further, for without and warning the rear mast of the San Pedro gave way and swept several into the sea. One or two were brought back alive, but of the others we saw nothing. And the darkness hanging over everything made it terrible. We did not know if the San Pedro would hold together, officers and crew did their best to cheer us up. The day broke. The fog still hung low and the light only appeared gradually but then we would see who was saved and who was not. That sight I can't tell you about it. Everything about it was so desolate and dismal. And then the Elder came up. They got us aboard, cared for us and at Eureka I secured the only remaining berth on the Ponoma to come back here."

Chief Engineer J. Y. Johnson gave the following account of the wrecked steamer Columbia in an interview to the Evening Post:

"I was in my state room when the crash occurred and I scrambled into some clothes and came up on deck. All was confusion, and turmoil. The roar of the waters as it poured into the hole in the Columbia's side was deafening. Then desperate swiming away caught a rope thrown from the deck of the San Perdro. From there I looked at the Columbia just in time to see her plunge beneath the waves. As she sank I could dimly see many men dash across the deck toward the San Pedro, the next moment the fog had hidden the dreadful cries.

"I am sure that many steerage passengers did not leave their state state rooms as the interval was so short between the time she was struck and the time she sank that the men had not time to get to the deck and those that did jumped overboard and were sucked down by the vortex created by the sinking vessel.

"When I rushed across the deck, it seemed to be deserted but I knew that some were about me for the screams and cries were awful. I thank God that I am safe, but would willingly have given my life as Captain Doran did to save those that perished.

"I did not realize that the end would come soon as it did and I believe Captain Doran was of the same opinion."

names were added today

San Francisco, July 23.—Sixteen names were added today to the list of survivors of the Columbia-San Pedro collision, which occurred Sunday morning. These 16 passengers were in a boat which landed at Shelter Cove. The boat also contained two dead bodies, that of Mrs. O. A. Lewis of Passadena, Cal., and an unknown man, presumably a sailor.

The list of survivors now includes 160 names out of a reported total of 257 persons on board. Three dead bodies have been recovered. Ninety-six persons are unaccounted for.

CRIME IS CHARGED TO THE PINKERTONS

Attorney Richardson Flays State's Witnesses in Haywood Trial at Boise, Idaho.

DEEP LAID CONSPIRACY

Sought to Destroy Western Federation By Hanging Haywood—Darrow to Speak Today—Dr. McGhee Discharged.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Boise, Idaho, July 23.—Forsaking the cry of vengeance as Orchard's motive for the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, E. F. Richardson today argued that Orchard was in the employ of the Pinkerton detective agency when he killed Steunenberg and that the murder was a part of the conspiracy to hang Haywood. This sudden departure was followed by a tremendous denunciation of Captain James McPhartland and the Pinkertons and passionate vituperation of Orchard, Governor Goodwing, of Idaho, Senator Borah, former Governor Peabody, of Colorado, and, in fact, all who have acted on the side of the prosecution of Haywood came in for a share of the avalanche of Richardson's peroration.

Mr. Richardson denounced and charged the Pinkerton detective agency with a systematic plot to secure the conviction of Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone as a means to the desired extermination of the Western Federation of Miners. Clarence Darrow will commence his argument in Haywood's behalf when court meets tomorrow morning. It is expected that he will require two days to close for the defense.

Declaring Harry Orchard was a man possessed with a lust for murder, a desire to glut a disordered brain with blood of his fellow man, Attorney Richardson, continuing his plea for the life of William W. Haywood, told the jury that today that the defense was ready and willing to admit that Orchard accomplished the taking off of Governor Steunenberg in the manner described by him on the witness stand.

Orchard was pointed to as one who fancied there was glory in spectacular crime. Day after day opportunity was presented to him to kill Steunenberg in comparative safety to himself, but rather than shoot a man whose giant stature, the attorney said, offered a target as "big as the size of a barn door," Orchard planted a bomb and planned the deed so that it might attract the greatest amount of attention.

Richardson asserted that Orchard had a motive against Steunenburg for the real or fancied loss of his interest in the Hercules mine through being driven out of the Couer d'Alenes.

Of Orchard's story of many of his attempts upon the lives of men said to have been marked for death by the Federation, Mr. Richradson said it was the most absurd thing on the face of the earth. He declared that it would be a long time before the law would sanction a conviction on such testimony as has been adduced against Haywood, and he pleaded with the jury not to put a halter about the neck of his client" at the behest of the mine owners' association and its representatives."

Concluding his address Mr. Richardson said he left the case with all confidence in the hands of the jury for such determination as it saw fit. Court at 7:25 P. M. adjurned until 9 A. M. tomorrow.

Mr. Richardson was held in the court room for some time after adjournment receiving the congratulations of his friends and of others in the big audience.

Dr. I. L. McGee, the witness for the defense, who was arrested on the charge of perjury, was discharged from custody today by the magistrate before whom the preliminary hearing was held. The justice ruled that the evidence brought out by the prosecution was insufficient to warrant him in holding McGee.

ARMENIAN BAND PLANNED MURDER

Assassination of Wealthy Rug Manufacturer Leads to Investigation in New York.

A SCHEME TO BLACKMAIL

District Attorney's Office Concerned With Reported Existence of Band Said to Have Been in Operation Some Time.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, July 23.—Seeking a motive for the murder of H. S. Tavshanjian, an Armenian rug merchant, who was killed as he stepped from his store yesterday, the District Attorney's office was led today to an investigation of a report that Tavshanjian was one of the wealthy Armenians who had been marked for slaughter if they failed to give up $10,000 each to a blackmailing band of their countrymen. No color was given to this theory by Bedros Hampartzoan, who killed the rugman, when the prisoner was arraigned today. In court he maintained a stolid indifference, waived examination and was remanded to the coroner. Later he made a statement to a representative of the District Attorney. In this he declared that he had come here from Chicago for the express purpose of killing Tavshanjian, but the crime was instigated by no one and no other person or society was involved.

From the sources, carefully protected by the authorities, came information of a startling character, and said to be accurate. This is to the effect that a secret society of Armenians originally organized for what the members had patriotic, though revolutionary purposes had degenerated into an instrument for blackmail. The organization had branches in other cities, but recently many of these branches had disbanded, while the better element withdrew from all connection with the society.

The killing of Tavshanjian and the others, it was stated, was planed more than a year ago. They received letters which they interpreted as meaning they must pay or take the consequences. The threatened considered the matter at a meeting to decide what they should do. Tavishanjian was present. A number of merchants were in favor of acceding to the demand.

"Better give them money and live," they said.

"No," said Tavshanjian; "as a matter of principle we should not pay. You can do as you will. They can get nothing from me."

Mr. Cambere, Tavshanjian's secretary, visited the district attorney's office and there declared that the death of his employer grew out of attempted blackmail.

"There is no government here," cried Cambere excitedly. "I cannot understand why you have such laws. In Turkey they would have rounded them all up. This man, who committed the murder is only the dupe in hands of a band of blackmailers."

Cambere gave Assistant District Attorney Smith a list of wealthy Armenians whom he said had been forced to pay blackmail to this band.

"This is the work of an Armenian in this city who is the worst man in the world," said a prominent Armenian today. "He has been responsible far many murders and lesser crimes, and too cowardly to commit them himself, he gets men of small intellect to do the work for him by making them believe that they are woring for their country."

Aonther well-to-do Armenian said: "A priest who tried to fight the band was murdered in Odessa. Father Kasper Vartarian, killed in this city, was another victim."

AFTER STANDARD OIL.

Charged With Violating Mississippi Anti-Trust Law.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Tupelo, Miss., July 23.—George B. Mitchell, prosecuting attorney for the First Judicial District, filed suit for $1,480,000 in the Lee County Circuit Court today against the Standard Oil Company, charging violation of the Mississippi anti-trust laws.

If the suit is successful the Standard Oil Company will not only be forced to pay the sum named, but will be obliged to change the company's organization or leave Mississippi. The petition alleges that the Standard Oil Company has violated the law by owning stock of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, of Missouri, and also stock of the Union Tank Line. The suit is for $5,000 penalty for each day the company has done business in Mississippi since the anti-trust law went into effect.

J. B. DUKE MARRIED.

Head of Tobacco Trust Claims Atlanta Woman as Bride.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, July 23.—James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Company, was married today to Mrs. Nanaline Holt Inman, at the home of Mrs. William Schuyler Stackpole, in Brooklyn, in the presence of a few friends.
